Please Share With Us

Did you know that there are many ways that you can contribute to our monthly newsletter? Young or young at heart, we invite you to share your own writing, poetry, photos, or other forms of print to our editor for submission to the printed newsletter. You can do this by emailing info@connectingalbertcounty.org.

If you are a business (especially a new business) and you would like to get your name out into the local community about your work then advertising is the way to go. Email info@connectingalbertcounty.org for more information or see page 13.

Also, if you have an event to share with the community (especially those who don't necessarily have access to social media), then please email our calendar directly at connectingalbertcountycalendar@gmail.com. This will get your event posted directly to the website and then included in the monthly print version.

Please consider advertising our newsletter or sharing some of your writing with our readers!

Poetry by David Jacombs

EARTH

The sullen soil we walk amongst,
Roots and shrubs and loam.
Mountaintops roll for eternity,
Grass blankets the tumultuous decay,
Oak merges with the black earth in the ground,
Striving to touch the golden orb in the sky.
Feel earth between our toes,
Embrace soil that nourishes growth,
Respect the land that brings life,
Of Stone or Flesh, two parts the same.

WATER

Torrential downpour through vein-like tributaries,
Fill the Earth's cosmic cup,
Not one drop is ever wasted,
Not one drop is ever lost.
Transmuted to be,
Forevermore,
Liquid, gas and steam.
Awaken and refresh,
Glistening reflections upon the pond,
Remind us of our heart's yearning,
And emotional bond.

AIR

A soft gust,
A gentle breeze,
A reminder of the intangible and unseen.
Hurricane force and coiling winds,
A reflection of a broken Earth screaming for release.
Every breath we take a deeper connection,
Awakens within us,
Spurning and churning electrical impulses,
To keep us ... machines ... alive.

FIRE

Tendrils lick at wisps of oxygen,
Scuttling about with pops and sparks.
Our ascendancy entwined with each flicker of flame,
Embracing the path we seek, igniting our eyes to see,
A truth far greater than one alone,
Yet alone each of us must go.
Wary that any misstep, and the fires consumed
Will be all we know.
Snuffed out, but never forgotten.

Harvey Hall Yard Sale Recap

by Debbie James

On the cool and crisp morning of April 15 at 8am, the Harvey Hall hosted the first annual Indoor Yard Sale! While having the purpose of raising funds for the Hall's continued work, there were also other great results. Volunteers worked with Board Members to host the event, people of the community gathered to chat, newcomers were welcomed to the area and Harvey Hall worked in conjunction with another organization to help it raise funds as well. All this equals a greater sense of community for our area.

It was wonderful to have so many board members volunteer their time for this event. Unpacking takes more time, but there are always those mystery items or tacky items that might elicit a laugh or two. Our tables and benches were laden with items of a certain category that made it easy for our guests to perhaps find just the right item! Clean up was rapid and easily done. All remaining items were removed to be further donated in the city. We are grateful for all the donations from board members and other contributors.

Our joint venture with the Shepody Girl Guides Club was very enjoyable by the yard sale staff and the guests! Two moms and two daughters were on hand and the morning was well staffed by a teenage guider named Mya. Connections were made and future endeavors can be planned. There were a few people who said they came for the Girl Guide Cookies, so the bonus was the yard sale items on display.

All in all it was a great event, which just might be on the schedule for spring in the years to come.

BIRDS, Birds, Birds Day!

by Jane Chrysostom

The collective noun for crows is murder! For owls it's parliament, for eagles it's convocation; but what do you call a group of folks who gather to see, hear, and do all things about birds? We're not sure, but there was a flock of them at the Harvey Hall greeting in April, and it was amazing!

With the proximity to the popular Mary's Point Bird Sanctuary, the Harvey Hall's event planning committee, Debbie James from Hopewell Cape and Jane Chrysostom from Alma, engaged artists, authors, presenters, speakers, exhibitors, sellers, organizations, cooks, and enthusiasts who came from all over New Brunswick to participate in the first BIRDS, Birds, birds Day! Lunch, door prizes, a captivating presentation by local naturalist Gordon Rattray in the morning, and another (with real, live hooting) in the afternoon by owl expert Denis Doucet, caught everyone's attention and interest.

Nearly 150 people attended throughout the day and, despite the Hall's lack of running kitchen water or a drain, about 50 hot lunches were served. (Our fundraising efforts are getting us closer to solving this plumbing challenge!) Generous donations of bird-themed door prizes were a highlight throughout the open-house day. Visitors were engaged with the hands-on/take home printing by Maplewood Studios and author Carol Kent's reading of her book about a Barn Swallow. Also, there were information stations by Atlantic Wildlife, Ducks Unlimited, Nature Moncton, Mitch Doucet of Ethical Birding, and exhibits and sales by Studio on the Marsh, Tracy Munson Photography, Sybil Wentzell Photography, and by Glass Roots and Tim Isaac.

Cleveland Place and The Octopus' Garden Café, both in Alma, provided lunch augmented by oven-fresh baked goods by Alison Elias and the Florentine Manor, topped off by Alma's Topsy Tails' Hummingbird Cake for dessert. It was a full, well-rounded day that has taken flight as feedback echoed "When are you doing this again?!" Next year – we'll migrate back for another fantastic bird day with thanks to all those in the Fundy Albert community who so generously made this event both a terrific day of connection and helped with desperate funding needs for the Hall's continued restoration efforts.

Saturday, June 10 - We're welcoming back David Myles – musician, songwriter, recording artist, host, interviewer, author and entertainer, who has thirteen award-winning records and numerous collaborations to his credit.

Saturday, July 8 - We've been granted permission to come aboard with Before the Mast, a group of men who sing to entertain and introduce audiences to the amazing richness and vitality of shipboard work songs, and to celebrate our rich and storied maritime heritage right next to ShipYard Park at Harvey Hall. By necessity, shanties were sung without instrumental accompaniment and Before The Mast sings a cappella to honour this tradition.

Saturday, July 22 - We've invited local New Brunswick favourites, Isaac & Blewett & Friends, back to their familiar wooden stage. Smack in the middle of summer, smack in the middle of Fundy Albert, this mid-season performance will be a highlight of summer entertainment fun.

I hope all Mother's feel celebrated and appreciated today and every day!

Rural Rides Thanks Their Volunteers by Kelly Taylor

April 17 to 21 was National Volunteer Week. So many of the programs and services in our communities depend on the time and efforts of volunteers. Urban/Rural Rides depends entirely on the generosity of volunteers to provide transportation for those who need it.

Throughout the week, there were many expressions of gratitude for the work volunteers do. Urban/Rural Rides recognizes there are simply no words to express fully the value of their volunteers. Volunteer drivers use their own vehicles to provide rides to seniors, low-income families and people with moderate disabilities to medical appointments and food banks. Drivers are reimbursed for their mileage to offset the out-of-pocket expense. However, the true value of a volunteer cannot be measured in currency. The time they take out of their own lives to help others, share a friendly conversation, and make someone else feel like they have value, and someone cares about them, is priceless!

So, for every ride, every smile, every kind word, every act of generosity and every life changed one ride at a time – THANK YOU! The volunteer drivers who help get others where they need to go truly are some of the most
