Credit Unions in Rural Communities

Submitted by Patrick Kemp

Many smaller communities are feeling the impact of recent bank branch closures and others have been served notice that their branch will close in 2024. By losing this core service, there is a direct impact on these communities. Businesses have to plan any cash or coin orders further in advance. Any physical deposits need to be driven 30-40 minutes to access a branch increasing staffing and transportation costs. Other businesses are forced to keep additional cash on hand which increases risk for loss or theft. Our seniors can feel a bit more isolated because they lose this service. For some seniors, a trip to the local bank to cash a cheque or pay a few bills isn't just a service but a social activity for them. When a local bank branch closes, they miss this valued part of their routine.

We understand that this is a business model that makes sense for larger financial institutions because they have promoted alternate delivery channels for years and they have been very successful. Individuals and businesses have the option to complete transactions on the phone, online or by mobile app. This is cost effective and efficient for those that have the ability to do transactions in these ways. This does not work for everyone and in rural communities, there seems to be a preferred tendency to conduct transactions in-person with the other delivery channels as options.

We have created a working group which is looking into an alternate business model for financial services. Our goal is to complete a business feasibility study to determine the viability of a new credit union with a "rural community" focus. This way operation decisions can be made on a local level by community minded board members. The credit union model allows the flexibility to establish business policies around community service and support over profit. Now for any business, profit is important but having more flexibility to reinvest funds on a local level is strategically important for smaller communities.

We would invite you to join our facebook group and get real-time updates on this project as we move forward. The name of the group is "Help us form a rural NB credit union" and we are asking current group members to share it also. Let's work together to bring a vital service back to rural NB!

Fundy Curling Club End of Season Wrap Up

Submitted by Alan Demaline

With the last stones of the season delivered, the lights in the ice shed gone dark and the ice slowly melting it is time to look back on what can be best described as a season of firsts for the FCC!

If you have driven by the club on a Sunday afternoon this winter and noticed the club parking lot full of cars it is because this is the first time ever we have had an active Little Rocks and U18 program operating on Sunday afternoons. Both programs were a huge success with 22 youth participating in the ten sessions learning all they ever wanted to know about curling but were afraid to ask. The season wrapped up with a season ending party with many of our FCC members coming in to cheer the kids on. Thanks to all the volunteer coaches. We are already looking forward to next year.

The same fantastic Little Rocks and U18 curlers made it possible to partner with the residents of Forest Dale Home in the first ever FCC/Forest Dale Home March Break Bonspiel. The afternoon was spent floor curling at Forest Dale with residents paired up with youth curlers. The smiles on both the youth and residents said it all in what turned out to be a very special day. Thanks to our young curlers for taking time out of their March Break to participate and we look forward to making this an annual event!

The FCC was thrilled to host the first ever learn to curl session for the 1st Shepody Guides in February. It was a pleasure hosting this wonderful group of young ladies and we hope some of them may have caught the curling bug and jump into one of our youth programs next season.

Our first ever Wrap the Rink sign campaign was an overwhelming success. A huge thank you to the 17 local businesses for their support of the FCC by participating in the campaign. The signs were certainly the talk of the curlers during games and they made the ice shed look a whole lot better too.

With adult curling being offered every weeknight, combined with four weekend Bonspiels, it is no surprise our membership has also hit record levels. For the first time in a couple of decades we have 110 active members ranging in age from 6 to 80! If you are not currently a member perhaps next year you will come out and achieve a personal first by giving curling a try.

With the curling season behind us we already have another "first" to look forward to in the near future. The FCC will be hosting our first annual washer toss tournament in the coming weeks. Think you have what it takes to be a washer toss champion? Keep an eye on our Facebook page for details on how to register for what will be a fun filled event at the club.

Before signing off on another curling season the FCC Board of Directors would like to sincerely thank all of our members and the community in general for all the support offered to the club over this past year. See you one the ice in December and good curling!

A Cactus & A Bishop

submitted by Debbie James, Secretary of Harvey Hall

The tale I am about to share with you all started out one day as I made a stop at a home in Riverside-Albert to pick up some knitted dishcloths, as a donation to Harvey Hall for our opening season of 2023. Never had I been inside this home, but upon arrival I knew I had discovered something unique about the person that lived in this home. I had never seen so many Christmas cacti in my life and all in one home. At this point, I am amazed at their beauty, their size, and the quantity! Mind you, I was only in the back kitchen. There were more to be discovered later with a visit to the upstairs of said home.

One thing led to another, and it was disclosed that there was an even bigger and older Christmas cactus upstairs, which was given to her in 2007 by June Arsenault. June had inherited that plant from her own mother, who was given this plant from Mrs. Alena (Calhoun) Bishop, spouse of Mr. Judson Bishop of Harvey Bank NB. One does not know the date when all these transfers of ownerships happened, but we can be certain it happened before November 25, 1959, when Alena died.

You see, Bishop in this tale is not a religious cleric, but rather the surname of a farming family in Harvey Bank. The family home still stands (as a summer residence at Harvey Bank) and is well cared for by the owners.

Judson and Alena were the parents to five children, four girls and a boy. It was this boy, born in 1904, who becomes part of our story as a notable person to the Harvey area! George Bishop lived in the area until his death in 1985. In his obituary it states that he was; a deacon at the Harvey Baptist Church, a member of the Senior Citizens club, the Albert County Exhibition, Harvey Grasslands Co-op, the Historical Society, The Liberal Association and McLellan Memorial Hospital and he was part of the last Albert County Council.

From the memory of Mary Tingley, Harvey NB, we hear that George Bishop farmed a bit and had a very small grocery business in a room in his house. He also served on the committee for Bayview Cemetery. When Mary Majka had any special events at the hall, George would dress in period costume for the festivities. It was George Bishop who had placed the sign above the doorway of Harvey Hall which read "Remove not the ancient landmark that thy fathers have set" Proverbs 22:28. (Perhaps this was his way of saying that Harvey Hall will be with us forever!!)

Forty-year board member of Harvey Hall, Cyril Tingley, recalls that George was on the Board when he joined the team. Cyril stated that George was a bachelor and just liked to talk to people. He was one of the key individuals who worked to have a nursing home located in the region, which we know as Forestdale Nursing Home. A fun memory was shared in the fact that George was all about guarantees; so much so it was known that he had a new muffler for his Rambler every year just because he claimed the warranty!

As you can see, he was a very busy man with these many endeavors, but there is one organization which must have been very important to him over many years. Can you guess which one? Yes, Harvey Hall. From our historical binder we see from minutes that, at least back to 1980, George Bishop was one of the trustees of Harvey Hall. These were somewhat tough years for the trustees because at some point a "notice of tax sale" had been received. By 1984, we read that George Bishop and David Christie were working towards a job creation grant from the Federal Employment Development Branch for renovation of the hall. Mary Majka offered support from Albert County Heritage Trust and spoke with Malcolm MacLeod, MLA. Subsequently, he had visited the hall on election day and reported to George Bishop that he had not previously realized the hall's potential.

From George's own book Still the Gentle Breezes blow, 1984 we read: As time marched on, the majestic old building became less in demand and more neglected, but it still stands to see New Brunswick' bicentennial. Plans are being made to put the old girl back where she belongs, to be our bicentennial headquarters and help us all get a glimpse of her glorious past, if only for a day.

Reading further of the minutes, we see George in attendance of a meeting on in January 1985 where a grant of $19,914 was approved to carry out the work on the hall with the work to take place between April and June 1985. Sadly, George would not see this work completed for his death happened on March 27th, 1985.

So, from a random visit, a discovery of Christmas Cacti and a Bishop, I learned that Rosemary Dornan has 16 cacti in her house and her heritage plant, in a small way, has a connection to Harvey Hall. In my most recent visit to see the heritage plant, I found Rosemary just getting ready to plant some slips off her assorted cacti which she will donate to the Harvey Hall yard sale! You too can have a Christmas cactus and to remember George Bishop and all the others who sought and continue to seek to preserve this landmark!

Harvey Hall is a landmark of the Fundy Albert region! We are thankful for the many people over the years and presently, who diligently work to preserve this beautiful building in the Harvey Community. We appreciate all your contributions of time, physical labour, talented performances, financial donations, and your presence which all helps to keep this valuable landmark in the Harvey Community

Tips to Avoid Financial Fraud

An important message from the New Brunswick Senior Citizens' Federation (NBSCF) and Financial and Consumer Services Commission New Brunswick (FCNB)

Submitted by Lise Guignard

Anyone can be a victim of financial fraud. As we age, our ability to manage personal finances and health can deteriorate, making us more dependent on others and vulnerable to financial exploitation and fraud. Other factors, such as stress, isolation, fatigue and even overconfidence, can play a role in the ability to recognize the fraudsters' game. A significant financial loss is often devastating for older adults who may have more difficulty recovering. The repercussions of fraud and financial abuse are not just financial; victims lose trust in others, tend to isolate themselves socially and may suffer from health problems such as depression or anxiety disorders.

According to the Canadian Anti-Fraud Center, older adults in New Brunswick lost more than $1.1 million in 2023 due to fraud and scams, with more than 70% coming from investment fraud and gambling schemes of urgent need of money. In the urgent need of money scheme (or the grandparents' scam), the fraudster targets older adults and pretends to be a family member (often a grandchild) who is in trouble. Sometimes the scammer pretends to be a lawyer representing the member in difficulty. He calls to ask for money to be sent to him, but asks that the transfer remain secret, so as not to suffer reprimands from his parents.

We can take steps to protect against financial fraud by verifying the identity of the person asking for money and the truth of the facts, and hanging up when the call is from a stranger offering you an unsolicited offer or an investment opportunity, or asks you for financial information.

March was Fraud Prevention Month, an annual awareness initiative to help Canadians recognize, counter and report fraud by providing useful information. FCNB (Financial and Consumer Services Commission) is now offering a free, on-demand online course to provide older adults, families and caregivers with information on factors that increase vulnerability, signs of abuse and financial fraud, and schemes that target older adults.

This course allows participants to better understand:

- What is financial exploitation?
  - Signs of financial exploitation
  - Scams and financial fraud targeting New Brunswick's aging population and their impacts
  - How to prevent financial exploitation
  - Steps to take when you suspect someone is being financially exploited
  - How and where to report financial exploitation
- This online course is a simple tool available to the New Brunswick public to help them learn about the consequences of financial abuse, protect themselves and those they care about to avoid falling prey. Start your learning today by visiting: Finances50plus.fcnb.ca/en/learning and protect yourself and those you love.
